WHERE NATURE GUIDES PERFECTION

The lands known as Powerscourt, part of the ancient territory of Fercullen, have always been precious. Highly coveted, they were sought after, fought over, wrestled and wrangled over throughout a long and fraught history before their eventual gifting as a tribute to honour and loyalty.

With the history of the Powerscourt Estate tracing as far back as the 6th century, it is no wonder ownership has been claimed by numerous factions, from the native Clans of O'Toole and O'Byrne, to the Norman house of Le Poer, who built a castle here and from whom the Estate takes its name.

In the early 17th century, Powerscourt was gifted by Queen Elizabeth I to a favoured army general, Sir Richard Wingfield, passing down to the Slazenger family.

Today, a distinct harmony of time and place pervades every facet of the Powerscourt Estate. Such is the very essence of the extraordinary spirit at Powerscourt Distillery, where craft is honoured, creativity is celebrated and new innovations are realised.

Powerscourt Distillery, located in the restored Old Mill House, now distills the finest Fercullen Single Malt and Pot Still Irish Whiskey.

Here, amidst the tranquil landscape, you are invited to partake in an exclusive experience that blends both tradition and innovation.

AN EXTRAORDINARY SPIRIT

At Powerscourt Distillery we approach everything we do with the singular ambition to create something extraordinary to share with the world.

Powerscourt Distillery Cask Estate offers members the unique opportunity to become part of our history in the making, by owning your own cask, carefully crafted and aged to perfection by our expert team.

With each visit to the distillery, members are enveloped in the rich aromas of oak and malt, immersing themselves in the artistry and craftsmanship that goes into every drop.

Beyond the allure of owning a piece of liquid history, cask owners receive annual event invites to experience & explore new releases, and belong to our Cask Estate member list where they can share their passion with like-minded individuals through Vlogs, tastings and exclusive events.

It would be our pleasure to personally guide you on an exploratory journey of taste when selecting your very own premium or luxury whiskey, your choice is a true reflection of your individuality.
